Marriage Redeemed

A CONFERENCE FOR COUPLES

RESTORING HOPE

April 8, 2017

Mountain Park Church, Lake Oswego, Oregon

Marriages become broken when a spouse engages in inappropriate sexual behavior that results in betrayal and trauma for their partner or spouse. There is HOPE and healing available and this conference will be an encouragement and resource for those couples seeking to restore their marriage.

Bob & Nancy Laughland have been married 39 years with almost 15 years of post-betrayal recovery. Bob and Nancy believe that transparency about their story--both the mistakes they've made and the glorious rebuilding of their relationship--give purpose to their losses and glory to God. Nancy works at Portland Community College and Bob is a manufacturer's representative. In their free time, they teach ballroom dance. They have two married adult children and four perfect grandchildren.

Steve & Mary Frantz Mary and Steve were married for 37 years when Steve's betrayal was discovered. A sexual addiction and marriage betrayal led to years of recovery, counseling and intimacy rebuilding. Through support, hard work, difficult trials and Gods grace, their marriage continues to strengthen. Today, they each continue individual group support and co-lead a couples group study focused on redeeming marriages. Mary and Steve have 2 adult children and adore their 2 sweet grandsons.

Scott & Wendy Blanton have been married 20 years and are gratefully and intentionally walking in 12 years of purity. Scott has worked for the fire department 23 year and an outdoorsman who enjoys hunting with his sons. Wendy is a cowgirl who loves being a wife and homeschooling mom of four. They are passionate about sharing hope with those learning to be free from impurity, as well as those wounded by betrayal. Currently they are mentoring young men and women in youth ministry, pointing them to an early foundation of honesty and a life of freedom and worship. Wendy walks closely with women, encouraging them individually with the health and hope that God's love can bring after betrayal and abuse. Scott equips firemen with coping skills for dealing with stress and trauma and has spoken at several men's' retreats about living in purity.

Earl & Sandy Wilson have been married 57 years and offer both professional expertise and personal experience in dealing with these issues. The Wilson's and Miller's co-direct Tuff Stuff Ministries. Earl is an author and retired psychologist who specialized in treating men with patterns of compulsive sexual behavior. Sandy is an author, speaker and retired counselor who specialized in treating women experiencing betrayal. www.tuffstuffministries.com

Dennis and Georgia Miller have been married 40years and represent International Christian Ministries as well as serve as co-directors of Tuff Stuff Ministries. As a result of their life changing journey with sexual addiction and recovery, they provide lay-counseling for couples and individuals dealing with the emotional trauma of betrayal. Together they facilitate small groups of couples in recovery using their "Under Construction" curriculum. Georgia has also written, "Making a Quilt out of Cobwebs," telling her story of betrayal and healing. The Millers speak at conferences, colleges, retreats, and men's and women's gatherings. www.heartwords.org
